Introduction:

My name is Tejaswi. I'm from Kadapa, AP. Currently, I'm working as an Associate Software Engineer for Gemini Consulting and Services from 2019-until now. And I have 2 years of experience in UI.

Why This Course:

In my organization every project and every time we are switching different technology with different projects. Sometimes, they are not assigned for trained tech. That time I was disappointed with them. And every day I was thinking about my career...how it will be going to be. At that time my teammate has suggested to me try to learn Data Science. If we trained on DS...we will work on only DS technology, we don't want switch different technologies. So, try to switch the tech as well as a company too.

That time I'm not confident about DS because I'm not good at mathematics. So, that I ignored the DS. But, after some days I have facing financial issues. So, I strongly decided to shift the tech with good package. But I have multiple options are there. I don't know which one is the best one. I was confused about which I want to take. So, I was asking my sister and best friends which I will take the technology.??? They said Data Science only, because DS is one of the booming technologies all over the country with the good package too. Again, my teammate has suggested DS. Every time I met him; he was talking about DS only.

So, I also decide to join DS course, but I'm not confident at mathematics Even also I decided to learn DS only. That's why I and My friend started the search for the training institute. We get calls from some institutes; they are charge the 2.5L. But we don't have that much money to join the course. So, my friend has suggested watching YouTube videos on DS. It will help to understand the concepts. So, that I trying to watch those videos. In the meanwhile, my friend was searching for institutes for lowest fee with best institute, and one fine day he called and told me about the EdYoda Institute, and we got positive feedback about the institute from trained students. So, that next day we were joining the course.

-----This is the reason-----.
